SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW

SUMMER LAW PROGRAM IN MADRID

SLU LAW
SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW
YOUR LIFE IN THE LAW BEGINS HERE.
SLU LAW offers a six-week, ABA-approved foreign summer program that allows students to take up to six credit hours in international and comparative law courses. Classes will meet Monday through Thursday for three weeks and Monday through Friday for two weeks, leaving the student time to explore Spain and the rest of Europe. The program offers faculty-guided court visits and various other educational and social events. An optional Introduction to Spanish course and an Advanced Spanish for the Professional Setting course are offered for interested students at no additional cost.

The Summer Law Program in Madrid is held on the Madrid campus of Saint Louis University. The campus is located in the northwest section of Madrid near other universities and within a 20-minute subway ride to the city’s historical center.

The modern and updated Madrid campus of Saint Louis University is equipped with classrooms, library, computer labs, and a cafeteria. As the campus is open year-round, students will be able to experience a comfortable and supportive campus atmosphere during their six weeks in Madrid. Staff and faculty speak English fluently and are happy to assist students with their needs. From educational programs to extracurricular activities, students will feel at home in the heart of Spain.

Questions and comments regarding the program may be addressed to the program director:

THE SUPREME COURT OF SPAIN

Students will tour the highest regular court in Spain.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT OF SPAIN

Students will tour the court with Professor Ignacio Borrajo and learn about its history and proceedings.
Engaging in business transactions across borders naturally presents significant risks and opportunities, legal and otherwise, and many of the risks and opportunities are different from those presented by simply doing business at home. This is true no matter where the international business transaction takes place. However, when a company engages in a business transaction in an emerging market, where there might be a rapidly changing legal landscape, unfamiliar business practices, political risk, unusual economic growth, and distinctive business opportunities, the additional issues can be especially challenging to navigate.

In this course, students will examine some of the significant legal and business issues that arise when companies engage in business transactions in emerging markets. In addition to an overview of the challenges of doing business in an emerging market, the course will include coverage of compliance with anticorruption law, protection of intellectual property, financing transactions, planning for dispute resolution, and corporate social responsibility. Particular attention will likely be given to doing business in Russia and other former Soviet states, China, and certain jurisdictions in Latin America.

EUROPEAN HUMAN RIGHTS LAW
PROFESSOR IGNACIO BORRAJO INIESTA (H) (2 Credits)
This course provides an overview of the protection of civil and political rights in Europe, both those protected by the European Convention on Human Rights and European Union law. It will focus on recent developments, including the new Lisbon Treaty (effective December 2009) and the situation of new and old democracies since the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989. It will also examine the case law of the European Court of Human Rights and the Court of Justice of the European Union. Some selected areas shall be emphasized, such as the right to life and physical integrity, international migrations, and linguistic, religious and cultural pluralism.

GLOBAL HEALTH LAW AND POLICY
PROFESSOR JESSE A. GOLDNER (H) (2 Credits)
This course will explore a variety of selected topics in comparative health law. It will focus on developing an understanding of how a variety of disparate legal systems deal with issues in health care law and is designed to demonstrate that there are very different solutions to health law dilemmas than those commonly considered in the American context. The course is organized around the notion of rights. It begins with a comprehensive examination of the right to health and its implementation, including a section generally describing how health care systems are organized and function. The remainder of the course will review topics within three broad areas: the rights of patients in their relationships with health care professionals and institutions (negligence, informed consent, confidentiality); the right of patients to autonomous decision making (bioethics); and the interface between the rights of individuals and the interests of society (public health issues). The course will assume no knowledge of American health law and therefore will be suitable for students entering their second as well as third years of legal studies.

INTERNATIONAL INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LAW (WITH OPTIONAL TRIP TO GENEVA, SWITZERLAND)
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR ERIKA COHN (H) (2 Credits)
In today’s global economy, creative works, technological inventions, and brand equity are vital assets. The copyright, patent, and trademark laws designed to protect and regulate these assets are national, but the use of these assets frequently crosses national borders. This course will introduce students to the international dimension of intellectual property law and will examine the fundamental questions of territoriality, national treatment, jurisdiction, and choice of law. We will survey key international agreements, including the Paris Convention, the Berne Convention, and the WTO Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property (TRIPS). The implementation of these agreements within the United States and other countries will also be discussed. In addition, we will explore political and policy concerns related to international intellectual property, including the enforcement of rights in developing countries and the connection between patent issues and access to medicines. At the end of the course, there will be an optional visit to Geneva, Switzerland where students will be able to meet with staff at the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) and tour the World Trade Organization (WTO) where the major IP treaties are administered.

INTRODUCTION TO THE CIVIL LAW SYSTEMS
PROFESSOR JAVIER MARTINEZ-TORRON (H) (1 Credit)
This course provides an introduction to the civil law tradition as it has developed in today’s continental European legal systems. Students will be introduced to historical sources of the civil law tradition, such as Roman and Canon Law and the Code Napoleon. Students will gain an understanding of how and why the tradition of codified law developed on the European continent in contrast to the common law tradition in England. The basic structure, principles and jurisprudence of the civil law systems will be explored and compared to those of the common law, leading the student to appreciate the strengths and weaknesses of both traditions. Students will also study the areas in which trends toward convergence or divergence of civil law and common law can be identified, and the questions they raise in the context of the European unification process. Particular attention will be given to the development of the civil law tradition in Spain and to Spanish procedure and jurisdiction, as well as to EU legal institutions. The course will not presuppose any knowledge of the civil law tradition or comparative law.

RULE OF LAW IN THE FORMER SOVIET REPUBLICS
PROFESSOR LORENA BACHMAIER WINTER (H) (1 Credit)
In December 1991 the Soviet Union disintegrated into 15 separate states. Since then, one of the major challenges has been the building up of new legal systems based on the democratic principles and the rule of law. Political stability is necessary for economic growth and both need an adequate legal framework that promotes justice, security and equality, capable of providing legal certainty and trust in the institutions. The recent Maidan events in Ukraine and the subsequent annexation of Crimea by the Russian Federation, together with the armed conflict in the Eastern regions of this country show how fragile the rule of law principle is in these states. In this course the students will have an overview on the major challenges in facing the establishment of democracies based on the rule of law in former soviet republics, with a special focus in certain crucial areas as the justice system and the protection of human rights in selected countries.

INTRODUCTION TO SPANISH
PROFESSOR JULIO LASARTE (No Credit)
This non-credit, hour-long introductory Spanish language class will be held every Monday through Thursday between May 26 and June 24. It will not conflict with other classes.

ADVANCED SPANISH FOR THE PROFESSIONAL SETTING
PROFESSOR TBD (No Credit)
For those students who have a background in Spanish, this non-credit, hour-long advanced Spanish language course will focus on developing Spanish language skills used in the professional setting.

Please note: SLU LAW reserves the right to cancel any course, including one or both of the Spanish language courses, in case of insufficient student enrollment.
IGNACIO BORRAJO INIESTA
PROFESSOR
J.D., Complutense University of Madrid; Doctor in Law, Complutense University of Madrid; LL.M, Harvard Law School

Professor Borrajo Iniesta was an associate professor of law at the Complutense University in Madrid from 1984 - 1989 and was appointed a full professor of law at the University of Navarra, where he taught from 1993 - 1995. He has also lectured at the Sorbonne in Paris, the European University in Florence, Italy, the Academy of European Public Law in Spetses, Greece and at the College of William and Mary, both in Virginia and at their summer program. He is currently senior staff attorney at the Constitutional Court of Spain in Madrid, where he also teaches at the University Institute Ortega y Gasset. He has collaborated as an expert with the Council of Europe in the fields of human rights and the rule of law, and he has published widely in the areas of constitutional and administrative law, European Community law, due process and other public law subjects.

LORENA BACHMAIER WINTER
PROFESSOR
J.D., Complutense University of Madrid; M.A., Complutense University; J.S.D., Complutense University

Professor Bachmaier Winter has been a professor of the faculty of law at Complutense University since 1996, where she teaches both criminal and civil procedure. She has written extensively on the subject of procedure and lectured in universities and governmental agencies in Europe and Latin America. She is a member of the Spanish Royal Academy of Jurisprudence and Legislation and the Ibero-American Association of Procedural Law and has consulted for Spain’s Ministry of Justice. Over the years she has been a fellow at the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation and a visiting scholar in the Max-Planck Institute for Foreign and International Criminal Law (Freiburg, Germany), the University of California-Berkeley and Harvard University. Her comparative legal studies are focused on human rights and procedure, international judicial cooperation, comparative law and the EU process of legal harmonization.

ERIKA COHN
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF LEGAL RESEARCH
B.A., Vanderbilt University; J.D., University of Illinois; M.L.S., University of Missouri-Columbia

Professor Cohn joined SLU LAW in 2012. She received her B.A. from Vanderbilt University, her J.D. from the University of Illinois College of Law, and her M.L.S. from the University of Missouri-Columbia. She is currently pursuing an M.B.A. at Saint Louis University.

Professor Cohn teaches Trademark and Unfair Competition Law, Intellectual Property Law Research and Advanced Legal Research. She also presents frequently on copyright issues, particularly as they relate to academic institutions and libraries, and lectures on other specialized legal research topics.

Prior to joining SLU LAW, Professor Cohn practiced law in St. Louis with Brown & James, P.C., and was the Copyright and Digital Access Librarian at Washington University in St. Louis. She is licensed in Missouri and is an active member of the Mid-America Association of Law Libraries.
An author and frequent speaker in academic and public settings on a variety of health law and bioethics topics, Prof. Goldner's research initially focused on family law, law and psychiatry and various other law and medicine topics. Most recently he has worked with issues related to the ethics and regulation of research on human subjects and on children's health and the law. Professor Goldner joined the faculty at SLU LAW in 1973 and over the next decade directed much of his time to developing the School's civil and criminal clinical programs. Thereafter, he became the co-founder of the Center for Health Law Studies, which he directed for 12 years. Prof. Goldner was one of three faculty co-editors of the Journal of Health Law published by the American Health Lawyers Association. He also served as Associate Dean for Academic Affairs of SLU LAW for three years and has been a visiting professor at a number of American and foreign law schools. He received the Health Law Teacher of the Year award from the American Society of Law, Medicine & Ethics and has taught comparative health law courses on three prior occasions in European summer school programs.

William P. Johnson, the director of the Summer Law Program in Madrid, is an associate professor of law and director for the Center for International and Comparative Law at Saint Louis University, where he teaches commercial law and international business law courses. He has also taught at Bucerius Law School in Hamburg, Germany, and Vytautas Magnus University in Kaunas, Lithuania.

Before becoming a law professor, Johnson spent six years in private practice as a transactional lawyer in the business law department of Foley & Lardner LLP. He remains engaged with the practice community through his active involvement in the Section of International Law of the ABA, where he holds numerous leadership positions.

Johnson's research is in the areas of commercial law and international law and practice. He has written extensively on the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods, publishing his work in the United States, Turkey and Brazil.

Professor Martínez-Torrón has been a professor of law (Catedrático) at Complutense University of Madrid since 2000. Formerly a professor at the University of Granada (1993 - 2000), his teaching areas are comparative law, law and religion, marriage law and Canon Law. In these areas he has published extensively in 18 countries and eight languages. He has taught or lectured at numerous universities and international conferences in Europe, America and Asia. He has developed part of his research at Cambridge University, The University of Chicago, Columbia University and Harvard University, among others. He is vice president of the Canon Law and Law-and-Religion section of the Spanish Royal Academy of Jurisprudence and Legislation. He was co-founder of the Spanish Association of Comparative Law and a member of its board of directors. He is also a member of the International Academy of Comparative Law, the OSCE/ODIHR Advisory Council on Freedom of Religion or Belief, the Advisory Commission on Religious Freedom in the Spanish Ministry of Justice and the Bioethics Committee of the Autonomous Region of Madrid.

ELIGIBILITY
This program is an ABA-approved foreign summer program in law. All law students enrolled in U.S. law schools who are in good standing and have completed their first year of law school are eligible to apply. In addition, law students currently enrolled in, as well as recent graduates of, law programs outside the United States are welcome to apply for the program. In each case, the student must be in good standing. If you are unsure of your eligibility, please contact the director of the summer law program for clarification.

TUITION, BOOKS AND FEES
> Six-week program: $4,800 estimated
> Books and course handouts included with tuition
> Travel costs and personal expenses not included
> The $120 registration fee will be credited toward international health insurance.

PROGRAM HOUSING OPTIONS
Madrid Family Housing
The SLU Madrid campus contracts with local residents to house students during the six weeks for approximately €1,500. For this price students will share a room at a residence with another law student or SLU Madrid graduate student and receive:
> Wireless DSL access
> Weekly laundry service
> Limited kitchen privileges (food and meals are the responsibility of the student)

Students living with a family must respect the living environment which is quiet and tranquil. You may come and go as you please. However, you are expected to follow common courtesies and not disturb others after hours. Students should ask permission to bring visitors into the residence. Illegal substances are prohibited and overnight guests are not allowed.

Apartment Housing
Many online rental agencies have proven useful to students in the past.

CAMPUS LOCATION
The campus is situated in the pleasant university area of northwest Madrid. The closest metro station to SLU Madrid’s campus is Guzmán el Bueno.

PROGRAM CANCELLATION
SLU LAW reserves the right to alter or cancel this program. Cancellation would occur if there is insufficient enrollment or unanticipated international events that have the potential to affect participants’ safety and/or inhibit program administration. If cancellation becomes necessary and occurs after a deposit has been paid, the program director will make his best effort to make arrangements for each student enrolled to attend a similar program, if the student desires. If the program is canceled, all money advanced by the student shall be refunded within 20 days of cancellation.

CLASS ATTENDANCE POLICY
Regular and punctual class attendance is required during the Summer Law Program in Madrid. If a student misses more than three hours of a course without a valid excuse, he or she will be dropped from that course.
